

How Precision Medicine will transform Healthcare

CityLabs – Conference Rooms 1 & 2 and lounge, M13 9NQ

2nd March 2018 (8:30am – 1pm)

Programme

8:30 - 9:00 Registration & coffee

9:00 Welcome (Prof Chris Griffiths)

Prof Chris Griffiths

Professor of Dermatology (University of Manchester),
Director of Precision Medicine for Health Innovation Manchester

“Precision medicine in Greater Manchester”

Prof Ian Bruce

Professor of Rheumatology (University of Manchester)
Director of NIHR Manchester Biomedical Research Centre

“The NIHR Manchester Biomedical Research Centre”

Prof Tony Whetton

Professor of Cancer Cell Biology (University of Manchester)
Director of MPMI & Stoller Biomarker Discovery Centre

“The Stoller Biomarker Discovery Centre”

Prof Niels Peek

Director, Greater Manchester Connected Health City (University of Manchester)

“The role of Health Informatics in Precision Medicine”

10:00 Professor Chris Chamberlain

Vice-President and Head Experimental Medicine and Diagnostics, UCB

“An industry view of the prospects for precision medicine”

10:35 Coffee break and networking

10:50 Dr John Reynolds

NIHR Clinical Lecturer (University of Manchester)
Centre for Musculoskeletal Research, Division of Musculoskeletal and Dermatological Sciences

“Understanding the heterogeneity of SLE and related disorders: towards a precision approach to treatment”

11:10 Dr Amy Foulkes

NIHR Clinical Lecturer (University of Manchester)
Centre for Dermatological Research, Division of Musculoskeletal and Dermatological Sciences

“Thinking Big in Psoriasis: Personalised Medicine and Big Data”

11:30 Professor Andrew Hughes

Professor of Experimental Cancer Medicine (University of Manchester)
Strategic Lead, Experimental Cancer Medicine Team, Christie Hospital

“A clinician’s view of the future of precision medicine”

12:05 Closing remarks (Prof Chris Griffiths)

12:15 Lunch and networking